Two rafts adown the river float,
And Willie makes of the two a boat.

The motion pleases so his heart,
He does not see them drift apart.

Willie thinks that to study is better far,
Than paying for fun with a bad catarrh.

Papa says Willie has now conquered his mischievous proclivities and become a good boy. Every fine Sunday afternoon he can be seen on Fifth Avenue dressed in one of CLEMENTS' "Nobby Suits." He tells his papa that all the pretty girls cast sly glances at him. "The mischievous elf."
